

Dear IEC Young Professionals,

Each year, the IEC Young Professionals workshop assembles international candidates at the beginning of their careers in electrotechnical standardization, who have been chosen by IEC National Committees around the world. The IEC Young Professionals Programme supports the increased involvement of Young Professionals in international electrotechnical standardization and conformity assessment work, bolstering the future of technology transfer and long-term national involvement in the international standardization arena.

In building on the success of the Programme, the IEC System of Conformity Assessment Schemes for Electrotechnical Equipment and Components (IECEE) is considering funding 2 Young Professionals interested in conformity assessment, and the IECEE, to attend the IECEE Certification Management Committee (CMC) meeting to be held in Oslo, Norway on 1 and 2 June, 2016. While attending the CMC meeting, the YPs will benefit from crucial networking opportunities, which are fundamental to help them increase their involvement, learn more about conformity assessment and the IECEE operations and strategies.

Nominations can be submitted using the IECEE Young Professionals Competition nomination form until March 15, 2016. Candidates will be selected based on their demonstrated leadership and dedication in connection with conformity assessment activities, as well as their vision of the larger commercial and strategic impact of standardization and conformity assessment work, and their accomplishments in their field of activity.
